

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A hand-held device for selectively attaching a water drip system connector to a water drip system conduit or detaching the water drip system connector from the conduit. The device can be employed to connect different types of attachments such as plugs to conduits or disconnect the attachments therefrom.